Success!

The Back to School Fair held here in Remington handed out almost 200 book bags filled with school supplies to Remington students.

The Annual Back to School Fair was held at the Church of the Guardian Angel on August 27th. The Fair also served almost 300 hot dogs, featured free hair cuts, and live music from a local band. The adults swapped stories of when they were in school (and how different it was back then) while the children created a myriad of colors on the street using just chalk and their imagination.

Two new faces in town

First is Kezia Snipes is our new Community Builder here in Remington. She comes to us from ESC (Episcopal Service Corps), and will be with us for a year.

As a Community Builder, she will be the go to person for things like the Tool Bank getting your state ID, and Weather-proofing - just to get started.

She is excited to be coming to Remington and work with EHC and the Church of the Guardian Angel in Remington and has some new events in the horizon. Her office is at 2629 Huntingdon, and her phone number is 443 -803-1952.

Kezia will be walking around Remington, meeting people starting September 4th. Please make her welcome, and help her learn about Remington. She wants to help us work together to strengthen our community.

Another new face to our neighborhood—Ashton Page, our new Ameri-Mic-Artist. Ashton is a MICA grad student who has an Americorps job being an artist in Remington.

We've had MICA grad students in Remington for several years, working with our teens in MICA art camps. They have contributed their vision on decorative garbage cans, framed photographs and murals (have you seen the one on 27th St.?). The AmeriMicArtist's job is to work with the whole community.

Ashton's office/studio is at 2629 Huntingdon, but he will be out and about as well. Besides teaching school children, Ashton will also be working with various groups of adults. You can meet him at Porch Art on Tuesday night, September 11.

Energy Assistance for 2013

If you pay your own utilities, whether you own or rent, Maryland Energy Assistance (MEAP) can help with that bill.

MEAP will be accepting applications beginning in September for the 2013 energy bill year. The savings will not go into effect until 2013 but it is best to apply as early as you can.

Call the EHC office at 410-366-6200 and ask for Betsy or stop in at Kromer Hall on Wednesday mornings between 9 am and 10 am to get more information there is certain paperwork required to qualify.

Remington Was?

Pull that photo album from your grandparents out of the closet and dig up some Remington history.

A local author and historian, Kathleen C. Ambrose, is searching for photos depicting Remington between the years 1930 (or earlier)- 2000. The photos, can be scanned at your home for your convenience.

Kathleen explains how this project started: "One afternoon this summer I and a fellow historian were discussing a new book I bought about Hampden-Woodberry. I remarked how the author included many photos of Remington, which I believed should not have been allowed."

She goes on, "the historian disagreed, stating: 'Why not? Remington is just an extension of Hampden, it's not really a separate community.' In an effort to prove him wrong, I have written my own pictorial history book, to be published through Arcadia Publishing in summer of 2013."

Please give Kathleen a call and help her out.
