Advance with The Community School

Did you know that we have a state certified high school right here in Remington?

After over 3 decades of working with area youth to further their education, earn high school diplomas through the GED exam, and assist folks of all ages attend college successfully, The Community School is now a state certified high school. There are a limited number of openings for the fall term.

The Community School is an academic and mentoring high school, based in the Remington community, for young people who want to advance their education, improve their lives, and better their community. .

At The Community School, you're accepted for who you are and encouraged to be all you can be. If you're serious about learning and willing to work, you'll be rewarded with more than a high school diploma. Now interviewing for the Fall 2014 class. Space is limited

If you are interested in attending high school in a small neighborhood academic and mentoring program, give the school a call at 10-467-4920 or stop by 2939 Huntingdon Avenue at the corner of 30th Street. You can also find more information about the school and download an application at www.tcshighschool.org.

The Backpacks and supplies were donated by GRIA, St. Andrews and St. Marks Episcopal Churches.

Happy Halloween!

Hauntingdon is coming! Do you have your costume yet? Get ready for some fun!

Hauntingdon is Remington's annual Halloween Festival, held on the 2900 block of Huntingdon Avenue. Each year hundreds of residents gather around our beautifully decorated porches and partake in the festivities.

This year Hauntingdon will be held Friday- October 31st, from 4-8 pm.

The children in the neighborhood will be contributing decorations made while at Porch Art this fall, and each porch along the block will be a Halloween adventure.

Come in costume and be a part of the Halloween Parade! The theme is related to our heritage here—Ghosts and Ghouls of Baltimore!

There are more ghosts than just the famous Edgar Allan Poe wandering the streets of Baltimore! Baltimore has ghosts in Fells Point, Fort McHenry and even in that house down the street from you! Come find out who is haunting our neighborhood and other spots.

We can't do this without you so please come out and support this Remington gem. If you aren't already added please email Hauntingdon@gmail.com and we will put you on the list.

What's New in Remington - Development Updates

Here is some recent news about all the exciting projects happening in Remington:

Price Modern's $6 million renovation at 2604 Sisson is wrapping up. The company's 100+ employees now have a world-class showroom and design space, with large windows and commanding views.

Seawall Development's Remington Row office, retail and apartment project was reviewed by the Planning Commission on August 7th. The project includes Remington Avenue between 27th and 29th. If approved, construction would begin later this year.

The former Remington Wash building at 2847 Huntingdon is being renovated into a laundromat with several apartments above.

Several houses are currently under construction, including 2602 Miles, 2656-58 Miles and 302 W. 28th.

Remington Business Showcase

Conservation Technology

Conservation Technology is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year. It was founded in 1984 by a husband and wife team, the Jaslows. They started out in the basement of their Charles Village home and expanded to Remington in 1991. The company's offices and warehouse are located on Huntingdon Avenue, where it employs about a dozen people.

As their name implies, Conservation Technology provides a variety of systems related to conserving energy, minimizing water pollution and runoff, weatherproofing, and providing habitat for plants and animals.

Its main divisions are Green Roofs, Rainwater Harvesting, Ponds and Wetlands, Energy Efficient Building, and Waterproofing. They are the world's foremost provider of these systems, and they have customers in all 50 states and over 15 countries.

Many famous people have Conservation Technology products installed at their homes, including Bill Gates, Al Gore and numerous Hollywood actors. Here in Baltimore, they provided the weather stripping for the Transamerica Tower, the city's tallest building.

Conservation Technology has been slowly renovating the Ice House building in lower Remington, and plan to move their business into this larger space in a few years.
